Explorer V's Fate 'Mystery' After Launching

Jupiter-C Performed
Apparently Perfect
Takeoff From Cape

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—What happened to Explorer V? The fate of the latest potential American satellite still was an apparent mystery today despite another stellar performance by the Army's "old reliable" Jupiter-C rocket.

Explorer V — the heaviest U.S. moon launched at 37½ pounds — transmitted its signal only briefly after liftoff at 1:17 a.m. Sunday.

Army scientists studied telemetry data received from the spectacular flight in an effort to determine what happened.

They know that the launching ran smoothly. All four stages of the complex Jupiter-C functioned normally, boosting the satellite to the 18,000 m.p.h. velocity needed to plot it into orbit.

A clear Explorer signal was monitored for seven minutes at Ft. Monmouth, N.J. It gradually faded away. Six hours later, the Defense Department announced the satellite was not in orbit.

U.S. scientists hoped Explorer V would tell them more about a dense expanse of deadly radiation starting about 600 miles up. It extends far into the unknown. Man must be adequately protected against this radiation before starting adventures in space.

The radiation band is being investigated by Explorer IV, which blazed into an orbit July 26. Preliminary information shows that the intensity and energy of the rays are much more severe than was expected.

The equipment in Explorer V was changed slightly from its predecessor to take a closer look at this radiation phenomena at higher altitudes.

Scientists speculate that the

Statehood Vote Slated In Alaska

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A generation of debate on the merits of statehood for Alaska will be settled Tuesday at the polls.

A "yes" vote — on three separate referendum propositions — would mean creation of the new state probably in late December or early January. Actual admission will come with the issuance of a presidential proclamation after the results are in from a general election in November.

Most forecasts were that statehood would carry by at least a 2-1 majority of the more than 35,000 ballots that are expected to be cast. For the first time in Alaska, 19 and 20 year old residents will be among those voting.

Opposition to the end of territorial status has come largely from residents who fear new and higher taxes to support a state government.

Many federal employees in the territory also have expressed fears that statehood would bring an end to a 25 per cent cost of living allowance they now receive for working in Alaska.

For the first time, Alaskans will be voting for officials seeking elective offices of governor and secretary of state. In addition, candidates will be nominated for two U.S. Senate seats and one seat in the U.S. House.

If statehood carries in the referendum, a general election to name the first state officials will be held Nov. 25.

Delegates of 90 Churches to Attend

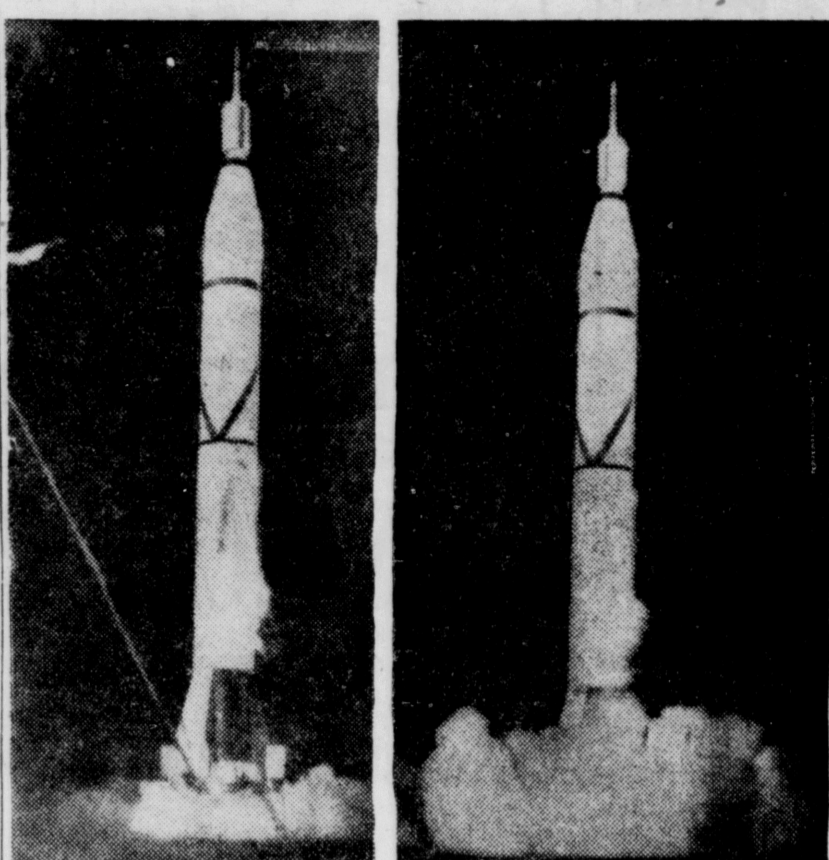

Friends Yearly Meeting Will Open On Tuesday

Delegates and representatives from 90 churches in seven states will be represented at the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends which will open with a praise service on Tuesday at 8:30 a.m. and continue through Sunday evening.

Main speakers on the Yearly Meeting general program are three men who have served the church in foreign mission work. They are the Rev. Robert Hess, home on furlough from the American Friends Mission station in Central India, currently residing in Damascus, and Dr. Walter R. Williams and Dr. Everett L. Cattell, both of Damascus.

Carl M. Senn, superintendent of Capitol School, Columbus, will be guest speaker on the temperance program Wednesday afternoon.

7,000 at Fair's Final Program

Horse Races, Pony
Contests Are Held

Columbiana County's 113th annual fair, marked by almost perfect weather and good crowds, closed Saturday night with the Bar M Rodeo repeating its Friday night show before a full grandstand.

Richard Stamp of Salem, fair board secretary, estimated the closing day crowd at nearly 7,000, bringing total attendance for the five days to 31,000.

Only a change in the announced program was a substitute for John Oliver, 71-year-old Lisbon jeweler who was scheduled to make his fourth balloon ascension and parachute jump.

Oliver, whose last jump prior to Wednesday was made 42 years ago, injured his ankle Friday night.

The substitute for Saturday's act was Leonard L. Winland of Crestline, young discharged paratrooper, who is traveling the fair circuit with horsemen.

Winland said he had never been up in a balloon and was "shaking in his boots" when the time came. The act went off without incident, Winland landing near the Robert Burton residence in a new allotment north of town.

Results of Saturday's racing program follow:

Weekend Uprising Aroused Fear of Invasion

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Communists today slacked off their attacks on the offshore Quemoy and Tan Islands after a weekend of massive bombardment and air and sea activity that aroused fears it was the curtain raiser for Red invasion.

The Nationalists reported turning back a seaborne Communist attempt to seize the island outpost of Tungting, 17 miles south of Quemoy, Sunday night.

Chaing Kai-Shek's forces also claimed their planes shot down two MIG17s in a dog fight over Quemoy Sunday night between 48 MIGs and an undisclosed number of Nationalist jets. It was the largest number of Communist planes so far reported in action at one time over the Formosa Strait.

Vest-Pocket War

After plastering the islands with nearly 80,000 artillery shells Saturday and Sunday in the heaviest barrage of the vest-pocket war, the guns on the adjacent Communist territory fired only 2,880 rounds during a four-hour bombardment this morning and an-

County Program Set On Mental Health

Columbiana County's 1958 program in the "Mental health in the classroom" series will be held Tuesday evening, Oct. 7, in Salem's new senior high school.

Plans are in full swing, reports Atty. Bryce W. Kendall of Salem, president of the Columbiana County Mental Health Association, the sponsor in cooperation with all teacher association in the county.

The program committee has selected speakers — a psychiatrist, psychologist, guidance counselor and a therapist in special education — to develop the topic, "Public Personnel Services," and hopes to secure a popular television commentator as moderator.

Teacher association presidents assisting with plans are John Lewis, Lisbon; Leroy Hoskins, Leetonia; Waldo Ward, Columbiana; Emma Lewis, Wellsville; Frank Hoopes, Salem and Paul Burrows, East Liverpool.

Mrs. Paul Hum, Salem, is general chairman. She will be assisted by Cornell Monda, Lisbon, program; E. S. Kerr, Salem, hospitality; Hoopes, publicity; Doris Cope, Salem, arrangements, and Mary Doyle, Salem, registration.

Action In China May Arouse U.S.

Dulles Warns Reds
Of Probable Effects

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two House foreign affairs specialists today viewed Secretary of State Dulles' new warning to Red China as indicating probable U.S. action if the Communists try to seize Quemoy and Matsu.

Both Representatives Clement Zablocki (D-Wis.) and Walter H. Judd (R-Minn.) backed Dulles' stand as an aid to peace in the Far East.

Dulles said in a statement any Communist Chinese attempt to conquer the tiny Nationalist-held islands off the Chinese mainland would be regarded as a threat to peace in the region.

Intensive Bombardment

He did not spell out what, if anything, the United States would do in event of an all-out Communist attack on Quemoy and Matsu, which have been under intensive aerial and artillery bombardment for the past few days.

The Defense Department said Sunday night that in the light of the increased activity in the Formosa Straits the U.S. 7th Fleet and other naval forces in the Far East have been ordered to take normal precautionary defense measures. A department spokesman declined to say what such measures involve.

Zablocki, chairman of a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on the Far East, said in an interview he considers Dulles' statement as marking an extension of a 3½-year-old policy under a congressional resolution authorizing President Eisenhower to fight, if necessary, to defend Formosa, Nationalist Chinese stronghold, and related areas.

Chaos Would Result

"I concur with it," said Zablocki, adding that chaos would result if this policy were not extended to include Quemoy and Matsu.

Judd, senior Republican member of the Far East subcommittee, voiced a similar view.

He said in a separate interview that the Communists are continually probing for soft spots in one or another part of the world. Where the free world doesn't

Little Rock Issue Before High Court

85th Congress Completes Term After 8 Months

Recession, Dawn
Of Space Age
Hampered Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's up to the voters now to judge how good a job the 85th Congress did in coping with problems of the dawning space age, the recession and other issues.

This year's session ended in the predawn hour Sunday, sending senators and representatives homeward after nearly eight months of work on Capitol Hill.

Most of them will get little vacation. They'll be starting to campaign in earnest for the fall elections which will fill all 435 House seats and 34 of the Senate's 96 seats.

Unless some big emergency requires a special session, the House and Senate will not meet again until Jan. 7 for the opening of the 86th Congress.

Foreign Aid Measure

One of the most important bills passed the last day was a compromise $3,298,092,500 foreign aid money measure. It also was one of the last.

The bill then was rushed to conference with the House, which some time ago had passed a bill carrying $3,078,092,500. After nearly five hours of haggling, the conferees agreed on the compromise that just about split the difference.

The final product, passed after midnight, totaled 652 million dollars.

Hearing Set Tuesday In Hillcrest Case

Columbiana County Board of Education's motion for a new trial in the Hillcrest case will be heard Tuesday morning by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard in Common Pleas Court.

The county board contends it has newly-discovered evidence which was not used in March when the court ruled in favor of the Paul Talbott (Hillcrest) petition in a mandamus action.

Petitioners seek release of the Hillcrest (Fairview School) area of Yellow Creek District, now part of the new Southern District, to join Wellsville city schools.

The petition was declared null and void by the county board last Nov. 26 when opponents filed a counter petition. Talbott's group contends the county board's action was conditional upon a check of a counter-petition wording and signatures and that final action on rejection was never taken.

Judge Buzzard's ruling in the mandamus action held that the petition is valid since the county board had not taken final action. He directed the county board to grant the request or forward it to the State Board of Education for decision.

Lawmakers to Give Faubus Power

Segregation Plans Laid in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Arkansas lawmakers today laid plans to hand Gov. Orval Faubus power to shut the doors of Central High School should the federal government seek to integrate it a second straight year.

Early arrivals for Tuesday's emergency session of the Legislature pointed to Faubus' landslide renomination this summer as a mandate to follow his leadership.

"When all 75 counties voted for Faubus they meant for the representatives to vote with him too," Rep. John Bethell of Prairie County said.

Both Faubus and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People raced against time in their struggle over integration.

Judge to Rule On Integration In Norfolk, Va.

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—A federal district judge today gives this Southern seaport city's school board further instructions on school integration.

Judge Walter E. Hoffman has accused the board of dragging its feet for 18 months on his desegregation order. He was expected to tell the board to take another look at some of the applications filed by Negroes for admission to white schools.

The public schools reopen Sept. 8.

Applications were filed by 151 Negroes, and 88 of them submitted to tests and interviews required by the board in its pupil assignment plan. The board turned down all the applicants. Fifty of those who took the tests asked Hoffman to direct the board to admit them to white schools.

After weeklong hearings, Hoffman instructed the board Friday night to appear before him today. During the weekend the judge prepared instructions directing the board to meet at its earliest convenience and reconsider some of the applications it had rejected.

The instructions, similar to those a judge gives a trial jury, informed the board of Hoffman's interpretation of its duties as related to principles of law.

These interpretations dealt with legal aspects of the five grounds on which the board denied the Negroes' applications. The grounds were racial tensions, isolation of Negroes in predominantly white schools, lack of scholastic achievement, too frequent transfers and geographical boundaries.

His action in ordering the board to appear before him today to receive instructions made it clearly evident he had concluded the board did not properly consider some of the applications.

Crew of Nautilus Returns to States

NEW YORK (AP)—New York gives a hero's welcome today to the atomic submarine Nautilus and its crew, first men to cross under the arctic icecap.

Sunday night, the submarine passed Ambrose lightship, outside New York Harbor and off the southern coast of Long Island, with a new transatlantic speed record set by her sister atomic submarine Skate.

Rear Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, a pioneer in the development of atomic submarines, was President Eisenhower's personal representative for the arrival ceremonies.

Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates was among the official welcoming party for the dockside ceremonies.

Tuesday, sightseers will be able to get a look at the sub at the navy yard.

On Wednesday — officially "USS Nautilus Day" in New York City — Rickover and the 115 officers and men of the sub will be honored in a traditional ticker-tape parade up lower Broadway.

'Extraordinary' Session Set For Thursday

Supreme Court's
Meeting Revealed
By Justice Warren

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court today called a special session Thursday of this week to consider the Little Rock school segregation case.

The high court, convening in the extraordinary session at noon will deal with the application of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People for cancellation of the desegregation delay granted by the 8th Circuit of Appeals at St. Louis.

The announcement, issued by Chief Justice Warren after consultation with the other members of the high court, said:

Filed With Whittaker

"The petitioners have filed with Mr. Justice Whittaker an application for vacation of the order of the United States Court of Appeals for the 8th Circuit staying the issuance of its mandate, and for a stay of the order of the United States District Court for the eastern district of Arkansas of June 21, 1958.

"Mr. Justice Whittaker deeming it more appropriate for the full court to pass upon such a motion, the chief justice, after consultation with other members of the court, has called a special term of the court for Thursday, Aug. 28, at noon, to consider this application.

"The solicitor general of the United States is invited to file a brief and to participate in the oral arguments if he is so advised."

Special Terms Rarity

The most recent one was called to pass on the appeal of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, later executed as Soviet spies.

Only an issue rated as tremendously important, or as presenting a question which must be settled before the expiration of a time limit, calls the Supreme Court back from summer vacation.

In the Little Rock case the time limit is the Sept. 2 opening date of the new school term.

As the session of the high tribunal was called, members of the Arkansas State Legislature streamed into Little Rock prepared to empower Gov. Orval E. Faubus to close Central High School if the federal government tries to integrate it for a second year.

The current litigation over integration at Central High stems from the action of the U.S. District Court in Little Rock in granting a 2½-year stay of a previous order for desegregation.

The 8th Circuit Court of Appeals threw out that order, and then on the application of the school board stayed the execution of its own ruling pending action by the Supreme Court.

Last week, Justice Whittaker, who has jurisdiction over appeals from 8th Circuit matters while the Supreme Court is in recess, voiced the opinion that one justice could pass on the NAACP application for cancellation of the integration delay.

There would be no doubt of one

Storm Sewer Levy Placed on Ballots

Salem City Council today submitted to the Columbiana County Board of Elections a two-mill tax levy for a storm sewer project to be placed on the Nov. 4 general election ballot, Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, said.

The five-year measure, designed to provide additional funds for current expenses, will require a 60 per cent approval for passage, O'Hanlon said.

The levy would produce about $78,000 a year or a total of $380,000. Approximately 438 additional acres would be taken into the city's storm sewer system under the proposed project.

Council last Tuesday adopted the resolution authorizing the Council clerk to place the levy on the tax ballots.

Traffic Deaths Over Weekend Total 6 in Ohio

By The Associated Press
Traffic fatalities in Ohio were relatively light over the weekend—only six being counted in an Associated Press tabulation from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

Four miscellaneous deaths brought the weekend toll to 10. The latter category included two persons who died in home fires, a drowning and a fatal fall.

The fatalities:
Friday night:
Howard E. Leasure Jr., 25, Fremont, when his car crashed into a culvert on a county road west of Fremont.

Saturday:
Mrs. Juanita Brown, 23, Cincinnati, after the auto in which she was riding collided with a truck at a Cincinnati intersection.
Miss Rosalie Friedman, 20, Tiffin, in a fall during a party at her home.

Harold Copeland, 19, Saybrook Twp., Ashtabula County, when his car hit a culvert after a tire blow-out.

Albert Mills, 43, in a fire at his home east of Mansfield.
Joe Maddux, 23, Olive Hills, Ky., drowned in Paint Creek near Bainbridge, Ross County, while hunting frogs.

Sunday:
Nancy Pierce, 8, Warren, in a fire at her home.
Mary Alice Stewart, 7, Columbus, darted into the path of an auto there while chasing a dog.

Mrs. Alcinda McClain, 60, Akron, when the auto in which she was riding overturned on Ohio 7 south of Marietta.
Ernest Hamilton, 19, Rt. 2, Circleville, when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck at the intersection of Ohio 865 and U. S. 23 in Shadeville, south of Columbus.

OUTWARD TO THE STARS (7)—Thrust

(1) The first obstacle which must be overcome before man can achieve space flight is Earth's gravity.

Gravitational pull can be likened to a great funnel, and a rocket to a daredevil motorcyclist trying to escape. Loops at (a), (b) and (c) above show how high the cyclist would go at different speeds. At 25,000 miles per hour he would be free of Earth's gravity forever. But if he sped around the sides of the funnel, he could maintain an orbit at a speed less than escape velocity.

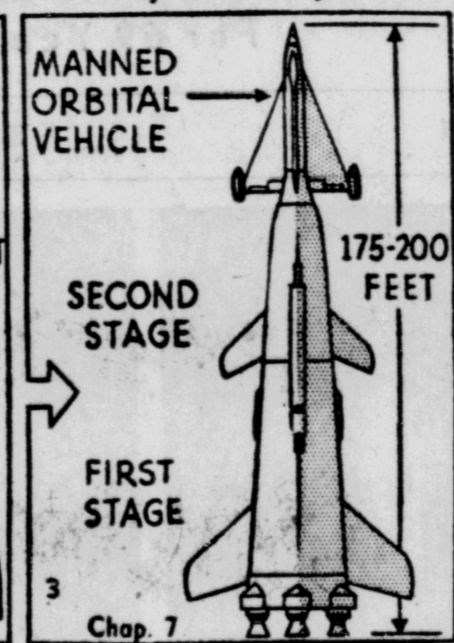

Speed for the orbit closest to Earth (just above the atmosphere) is about 18,000 miles per hour.

An orbit at (d) could be maintained at much less speed. But if the cyclist performed an elliptical orbit as at (e), as he approached closest to the bottom (the perigee) he would speed up. As he reached the top of his orbit (the apogee) he would slow down. This is precisely how an Earth satellite (or a planet going around the Sun) behaves.

(2) The only practical source of power man has at present for space travel is the rocket. Best speed which can be attained with present-day fuels is about 5,000 miles per hour. Thus, no single-stage rocket can escape the Earth's pull.

By Don Oakley and Ralph Lane

Three stages appear to be the most practical and efficient number.

Most advanced U.S. rocket so far is the Navy Vanguard, which delivers one pound of satellite for 1,000 pounds of rocket, as against 2,000 pounds of rocket for the Jupiter-C.

(3) Even if currently available fuels are improved, a man-carrying rocket will be of tremendous size. Shown at right is the possible shape of a manned satellite or supply rocket to a station in space. It is designed to be able to return to Earth as a supersonic glider.

Attendance of 2,100 Expected At Beaver Local Schools

Beaver Local Schools will open Wednesday, Sept. 3, with a full day in session.

It is estimated that attendance this year in Beaver Local schools will be nearly 2,100 pupils, of which 550 will be in grades 9 through 12.

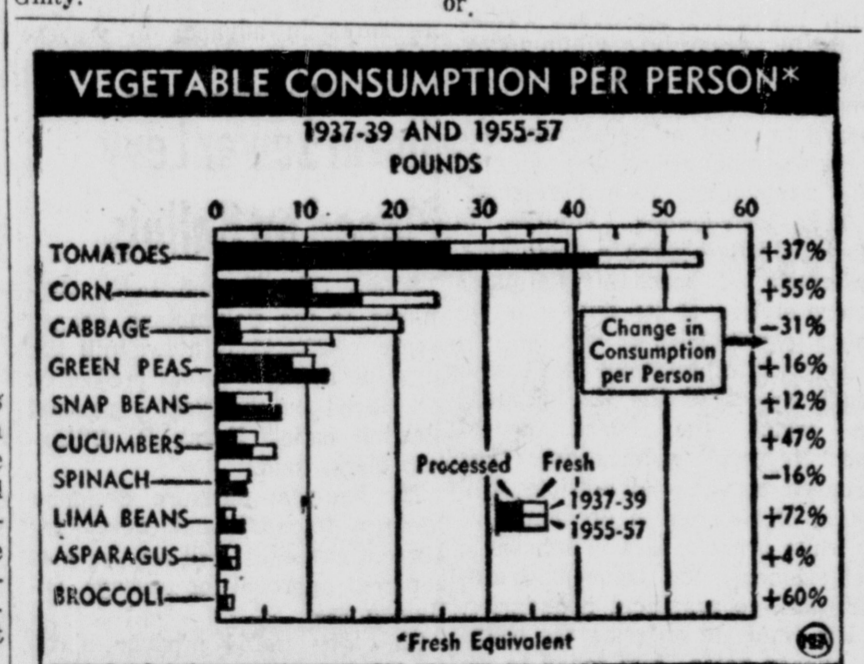

One major change in district operations will be the opening of the new upper elementary building on Rt. 7, opposite the high school, where nearly 700 pupils, grades 5-8, expected to enroll.

Time schedules for the various buildings, as well as bus pick-up schedules, are expected to be the same as last year, according to George M. Van Horne, executive head. Most units will observe the 8:30 a.m. or 8:45 a.m. convening times, and general bus pickup will commence at 7:40 a.m. throughout the district.

On Tuesday, Sept. 2, there will be general meetings of all teaching personnel at the high school building at 9:30 a.m.

Teaching staff of the district will be as follows: Beaver Local High School: Lee A. Kirkland, principal; Miss Lydia Pelton, Bobbie Bush, Floreal Suarez, Bruce Costanzo, John F. Frontone, Jack Kuhlman, Mrs. Olive McBride, Miss Rosa Oliverio, Jack O'Rourke, Miss Mary Jane Stansel, Mrs. Marguerite Strader, Willie Strader, Franklin Sturgeon, Mrs. Audrey Terry Hardey, Samuel Wagner, Harry West.

Mrs. June McBane, Mrs. Gretchen Beede Dawson, Alfred Sodem, Miss Marcia McClintock, Walter Lineberry, Miss Donna Russell, Ken O'Hara, and William McGinty.

VEGETABLE SCOOP—Annual consumption of commercially produced vegetables rose from an average of 170 pounds in 1937-39 to about 200 pounds per capita in 1957, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reports, while the importance of home-produced foods declined. Tomatoes led the way (see chart above), currently being consumed at an annual rate of 54 pounds per person. Overall increase has been due entirely to the growing use of processed items. Consumption of fresh vegetables has declined moderately.

Cleveland Bus Driver Shoots Passenger

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland Transit System bus driver, carrying a gun despite a CTS rule against it, shot and wounded a passenger who he said attacked him with a knife Sunday. The driver was held for investigation.

John H. Redmond, 50, a 30-year CTS veteran, said he fired a .32-caliber pistol at the passenger, James Edward Cook, 21, hitting him in the left chest with a single bullet.

Cook was in fair condition at St. Vincent Charity Hospital. Redmond claimed he shot in self-defense.

Redmond told police he tried to rouse Cook from sleep when the bus run ended at Public Square. He said the passenger swung at him, missed and then came at him with a knife.

Registration Tuesday For Kindergarten

Kindergarten registration will be held Tuesday morning at 9 in all Salem public elementary schools, School Superintendent E. S. Kerr announced today.

Principals have sent registration sheets to parents of eligible children, those five years of age on or before Sept. 30, Mr. Kerr said. Parents of eligible children who did not receive registration forms, or those new to Salem should report tomorrow morning to the school in the district in which they live, he added.

Attendance at Ohio State Fair Far Behind Last Year's Total

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Fair officials hoped for clear skies today to help bolster sagging attendance and revenue.

Totals for the first three days of the eight-day fair were not encouraging. Attendance was lagging about 30,000 behind last year's three-day total of 147,406, primarily because of rain Sunday.

Revenues at the Grandstand and Coliseum shows also were falling short of last year's figures.

Revenue from the Grandstand show for the first two days, with singer Tommy Sands the featured attraction, was $22,379 as compared with $30,402 for the first two fair days last year.

Sunday the Grandstand show was really hit hard. It had to move into the 3,000-seat Youth Center when the portable stage became mired in the mud of the Grandstand infield.

A steady rain during the morning hours cut attendance Sunday—traditionally the biggest day of the fair—to less than 50,000.

Despite the rain, 15,365 fans saw the Chicago Bears defeat the Philadelphia Eagles 3-0 in a professional football exhibition game.

Harness racing features today's fair program with an 11-race card starting at 12:30 p.m. Racing will continue through Thursday with the top race—the Buckeye State Pace—slated for Tuesday. The pace will carry a $23,850 purse, richest in the fair's history.

In Sunday's baton twirling contests, Mary Strome, 15, of Fairborn, won the grand championship and the governor's trophy. A six-girl team from Brush High School in South Euclid won the team title.

Kay Pfeiffer, 20, of Rt. 1, Kenton, was crowned wool queen by State Agriculture Director James R. Hay after an all-Ohio style show at the Youth Center.

Wise Handy Man Plays Safe By Grounding All Power Tools

With so many electric tools being used outdoors these days, it becomes more important than ever that they be properly grounded.

A tool or appliance is grounded when it has an eventual electrical connection with the earth.

This is a safety feature that could save your life, or at least prevent a severe shock.

When a tool is properly grounded and a short circuit occurs, the charge will go into the ground and not through you.

Most power tools are equipped with a third insulated wire at the plug end or a three-prong plug. Look for such wiring when buying a power tool.

WHEN USING the third wire, the screw holding the cover plate of the electrical outlet is removed, a special screw substituted and the grounding wire is slipped over its end. Some grounding connections come with threaded into a receptacle plate, threaded into a receptacle plate.

Newer tools come equipped with a three-prong plug and require a special outlet or an adapter unit for use with conventional outlets. The third prong is round, to prevent making a wrong connection.

Using either connection will work only if your wiring system uses BX cable. Metal cable and conduit are grounded. If the outlets are not so equipped, the grounding connection will only give you a false sense of security.

If your wiring is not up-to-date, it's a good idea to have an electrician install an outlet that will take a three-prong plug. Have him make sure that the outlet itself is properly grounded.

MANY ELECTRIC TOOLS have notoriously short cords. Using a two-wire extension from the house makes the grounding connection worthless.

For that electric hand saw or hedge trimmer, equip yourself with a three-wire extension. It's wise to get one that's already made up with proper connections.

Connecting the third or ground wire to a live terminal would put an electric charge in the tool casing.

Even if a tool is properly grounded, check wires and connections frequently for frayed spots.

If the ground is wet, postpone the job if you can. If you must work, wear rubbers and gloves when using hedge clippers or any other electric tool outdoors. Always take this precaution if using an older, two-wire model.

INDOORS, large appliances should be grounded. They're not always provided with three-wire cords.

The frame of a washing machine for example can be grounded by fastening an insulated, 14- or 16 gauge wire to a bolt somewhere on the body. Scrape away paint and rust from around the bolt.

Get a grounding clamp at your hardware store and place it on a nearby water pipe. Fasten the free end of the wire to the clamp.

Properly grounded appliances protect you in case of a short-circuit in the mechanism that might charge the case.

Dos And Don'ts

USING A HAMMER

DO—know that the size of a hammer is determined by the weight of the head, which ranges from 4 ounces up to 28 ounces, with a 16-ounce hammer generally recommended for ordinary household use.

DO—remember that, while a straightfaced hammer is easier to use for the novice, the bell-faced hammer is preferred by the professional because it enables him to drive a nail flush to the surface without damaging the wood.

DO—grip a hammer firmly near the end of the handle, holding the head at the desired spot with the other hand and tapping lightly a few times until it has taken hold.

DO—bring the arm into play only when it is necessary to hit the nail harder, but keep the strokes under control.

DON'T—forget that when a nail begins to bend, it sometimes can be straightened by hitting it a few taps in the direction opposite to that of the bend, although most of the time it is better to pull out the nail and start with a new one.

DON'T—neglect to place a wood block between the work and the head of the hammer when pulling out a nail with the hammer claws.

a double purpose of preventing damage to the material and providing extra leverage.

DON'T—use a hammer with a loose head; a metal wedge will tighten the head and prevent an accident.

DON'T—allow the hammer head to become rusty; rub it with an oil rag after using and wipe off the oil before using it again.

Here's The Answer

BY ANDREW C. LANG

QUESTION: When I am finished with a painting job, I place the brush in a container of turpentine, filling the container only enough to cover the bristles. This works all right most of the time, but when a long period of time elapses, I find the brush stiff and hard. How can I prevent this?

ANSWER: You have hit upon the answer yourself in the phrase "when a long period of time elapses." Suspending a brush in turpentine is recommended only when it is necessary to keep the brush handy for use in the immediate future... a day or two, for instance. Even then, it is wise to prevent evaporation by making some kind of seal around the top of the container. You can do this easily by covering the tops of the brush and the container with a piece of aluminum foil, plastic or similar material. Wrap a rubber band tightly around the container to hold the foil in position.

Now Is Time for Handy Man To Check Condition of Gutters

Whether or not you plan to paint your house this fall, do plan on touching up the gutters. And if you do plan to paint, the job will go faster if you eliminate this time-consuming operation ahead of time.

If the paint looks worn, if rust spots are beginning to show through, it's past time to get at the job.

When you mount the ladder for your inspection tour, take along a wire brush to get rid of debris and a screwdriver with which to explore rust spots.

Dislodge debris and check metal underneath. If the metal is sound, repainting may be all you need to do.

PLAN PERIODIC CLEANING even though you're sure the gutters are sound. Water builds up wherever there's debris. It spills over, stains walls, injures foundation plantings.

If you want to minimize this task in the future, you might consider installing gutter guards. These screenlike affairs are sold by nearly all hardware stores.

Metal that's rusty should be cleaned and sanded before painting. The wire brush will remove large particles. Use emery cloth for final cleaning.

Before painting, give the sanded spot a prime coat. Old-fashioned red lead is always suitable, and you may have a can of it tucked away from a previous job.

MODERN RUST-PREVENTING paints can be applied over a thin coating of rust on sound metal with little danger. In either case, be sure to remove large flakes of rust and all loose dirt. If there are tiny holes or cracks in the metal spread asbestos roof coating over the spot after priming it.

To seal larger openings, make a patch using roofing felt, fiberglass cloth, heavy aluminum foil or deck canvas.

To apply the patching, first spread a coating of asbestos cement over the cleaned spot. Then spread more roofing cement. Cover all the edges.

IF THE RUSTED-OUT section is extensive, use a piece of metal for the patch. It must be the same material as the gutter. Otherwise an electrolytic action will set in and your patch will go to pot in a few months.

Two dissimilar metals, such as aluminum and galvanized steel—although each is rustproof—will corrode when placed together in the presence of water.

Even though corrosion may not have started yet, it will if such a mixture exists. If you find that you have aluminum gutters held with galvanized nails, it might be worth all the work required to change the nails.

One Hazard at a Time

Relatively few of us will read the full report on effects of atomic radiation prepared by the United Nations Scientific Committee after two years of conscientious study. All of us, however, need to understand the issue about atomic radiation.

It is whether a hazard to human life that has been increased by deliberate experiments with nuclear weapons is so great that everything possible must be done to reduce it.

Atomic radiation, it is important to remember, existed before nuclear explosions and before men mastered the X-ray for medical and industrial uses. It is one of the natural hazards of being in the solar system.

There is no question but that nuclear explosions, like the use of X-ray and the light of the sun, add to the sum total of atomic radiation. What is not known, however, is how much atomic radiation can be endured by human beings without cataclysmic danger.

It is assumed that all atomic radiation is harmful to a degree, just as it must be assumed that all fumes in the air are harmful to a degree—or as it must be assumed that all automobiles are potentially able to kill human beings and inevitably will kill some of them.

THIS IS THE question that men must answer for themselves individually and collectively: Is the growing mastery of atomic fission and fusion in nuclear weapons tests worth the risk of radiation that goes with it? "Every worthwhile activity has a price, both in terms of certain damage and of potential damage—or risks—and the only relevant question is whether the price is worth paying," said the late John von Neumann, at the outset of the UN study of radiation effects.

The scientists who conducted the study concluded it was not their responsibility to decide whether the price was worth paying. They agreed there would be a price, however, though of indeterminate size, just as there is a price for transportation and the availability of drugs.

It is as though our ancestors had been called on to decide whether to outlaw TNT when the stuff began to blow up in the early days of its use, before methods were perfected to reduce the hazard of unexpected explosions to the vanishing point.

ATOMIC RADIATION is dangerous. Human life would be more secure if radiation did not exist. It would be even more secure if there were no airplanes, knives, wild animals, automobiles, water-craft, bathing beaches, coal mines, painting scaffolds, alcoholic beverages and smoking tobacco. Yet, no one is proposing seriously that men should eliminate one hazard at a time until life on earth became absolutely safe. If that were to be attempted, man, himself, would have to be eliminated as is his own greatest hazard.

Unsung Heroes of Little Rock

One of the possibilities in the Little Rock dilemma over school integration is the resignation of the school board.

The purpose of the resignation would be to give the citizens of Little Rock the opportunity to set up a new board with a fresh mandate. The sitting board, which tried first to carry out its own integration schedule, then asked for a suspension of integration after last year's chaotic experience, is uncertain about its backing.

The members of the Little Rock school board, the teachers and administrators who have tried to be loyal to it and the pupils of Central High School who have tried to make the best of a bad situation without doing anything of their own volition to make it worse are the unsung heroes of the tragic episode over integration in their city.

Their interest is education, not Southern race prejudice, or the Southern politicking of Gov. Orval Faubus and his followers. Yet, as the U.S. Court of Appeals acknowledged in its reversal of the District Court's order suspending integration, education has been the forgotten element in the controversy.

The Court of Appeals opinion described the setback to education in words like these:

"... fires, destruction of private and public property, physical abuse, bomb threats, intimidation of school officials, open defiance of the police department of the city of Little Rock, by mobs — and the naturally resulting additional expense to the district, disruption of normal educational procedures, and tension, even nervous collapse of the school personnel."

It may be disclosed in time what the total impact was on the welfare of a city school system and the preparation of its pupils for adulthood—an impact registered because of the savage opposition of a determined minority of irreconcilables willing to sacrifice everything, even the welfare of children, to a prejudice that no child is born with but every child in Little Rock now has been exposed to with malice and forethought.

pear that the Supreme Court, or any of its members, have shown a Communist taint by trying to preserve civil liberties is a revelation of extreme hostility to the court, nothing more.

Glimpse of the Past

The recent balloon ascensions and parachuting of 71-years-young John Oliver of Lisbon at the Columbiana County fair brings to mind the daring exploits of Dr. Homer W. Thompson in Salem at the turn of the century.

The Salem physician, who was an accredited balloonist, made 89 ascensions between 1897 and 1908. He covered the fair circuit in following his hobby and also took part in national long-distance balloon flights. Sometimes he took passengers along in the baskets beneath the hot air-filled balloon.

The late Louis H. Brush of Salem enjoyed going aloft with the balloonists in the era of not so long ago.

In this modern day of supersonic jets and predicted inter-planetary space travel, Mr. Oliver at Lisbon has given us a glimpse of the past, when the tempo was slower and, perhaps, a bit easier to appreciate.

Once Over

With Nelson Rockefeller almost a certain Republican candidate for governor of New York, and with Harriman his opponent, this will be the most open choice between multimillionaires the poor voters have ever had.

Getting farthest north from the Horatio Alger story, the people can be stirred by the realization their candidates have never known a day's adversity or been anywhere near the bottom of the ladder.

Each could become a White House possibility as a man who, from the cradle up, knew the ordeal or having to press a button to get anything he wanted.

"I'M FOR HARRIMAN," the wife said. "As a boy he had to peddle polo ponies and shine Rolls-Royces."

"That's nothing. My man is Rockefeller," we argued. "He began life with only two butlers, refused to be depressed when down to his last four country-estates and had to patch his own society ball masquerade costumes."

"Harriman for years had to get along on three meals a day and go miles to work in the same limousine," the wife declared.

"What of it?" we asked. "Rockefeller has always had to get up before noon to begin the day's toil. He knows what it is to go to work on the coldest mornings in only one fur coat and fight his way to the office in a car with the heater out of order."

"Give me a man like Harriman who has often experienced the ordeal of fighting a path from safety deposit box to safety deposit box, entirely on his own and with no guide. I remember the days when he got an entire carload of polo ponies from the Argentine to New York unassisted and without even asking for aid. He always said that any polo mallet good enough for the poor was good enough for him," insisted the little woman.

"Rockefeller has had to load his income taxes on covered wagons and make six or seven trips to Washington, unarmed and without ever losing a single bale of money on the trip," we said.

"Both boys had it rough," the misses admitted. "Whoever wins, the barefoot boy is out and the log-cabin becomes a late scratch."

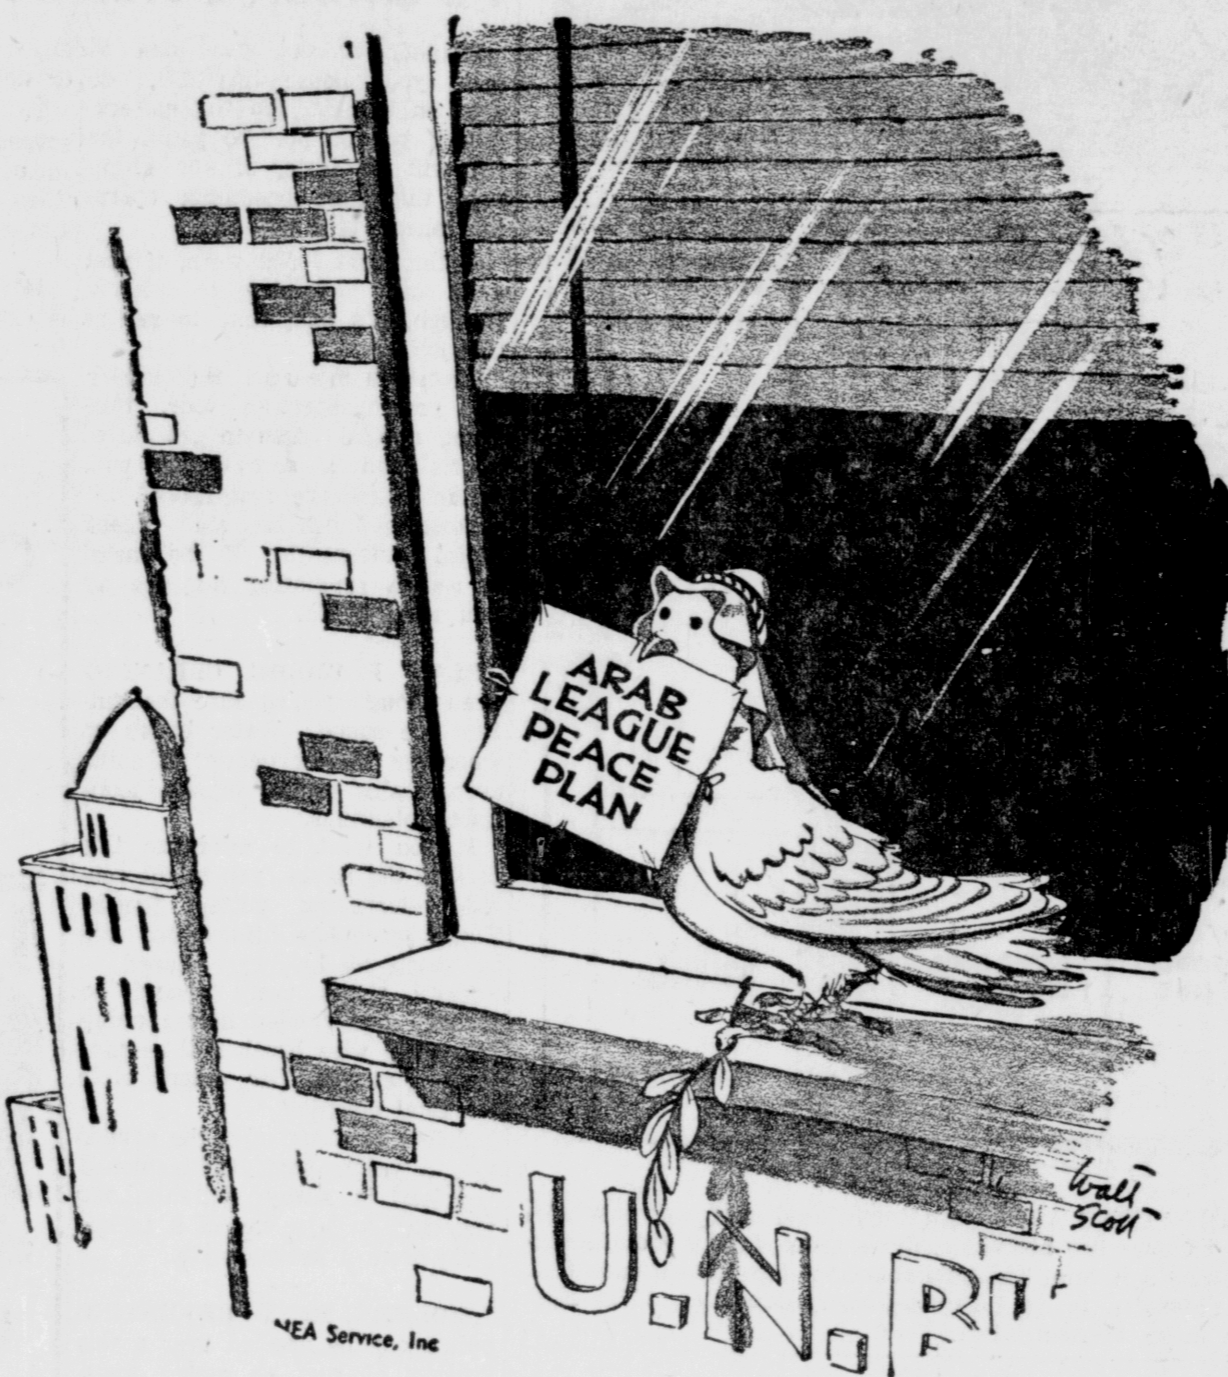

THE SUMMER BEING as terrible as it was in most places, it would seem that while we failed in our shot to the moon, somebody shot the blazes out of the sun.

A TV presentation of "Ben Hur" has been dropped. Couldn't find eight horses not working in "westerns." If presented, would the chariots have been named "His" and "Hurs"? When Hall withdrew from the governorship race against Rockefeller he probably realized he would have trouble making the trip against super high test gas.

Jules Verne had the best break in getting a rocket to the moon. He knew paper and ink couldn't explode.

International Tel & Tel. has a machine which can tell a boy from a girl. It was getting pretty hard but most folks would rather keep guessing.

Refueling Inflation

By RAYMOND MOLEY

high rate over a year in which the dollar has lost 3 per cent of its purchasing power.

THE STOCK MARKET, which is supposed to reflect future prospects, has been having a boom which is due not so much to an unmistakable pick-up in business as the prospect of mounting inflation in the two or three years to come.

Economists, notably Henry Hazlitt, point out that the big rise in the past year in "time" deposits, as distinguished from currency outside the banks and demand deposits inside the banks (both of which have remained constant), is a true mark of inflationary purchasing power, not of savings as is sometimes supposed.

Hazlitt points out further that this situation is an exact parallel with the condition that prevailed in the great boom before the bust in 1928. The devil of inflation finds work for idle funds.

As for inflation being caused by wage price spirals, the case can be conceded.

In the long run such movements from one level to another tend to be permanent. They wither the value of savings and bring immeasurable suffering to people who are unable to help themselves.

But no end of preaching, even from such an eminent pulpit as the White House, will avail much. A President, when Congress fails to do its duty, can put a mighty hand on the presses that are right now printing new money. He can take a stand against a spending spree the like of which has not been seen in peacetime.

THOSE WHO heedlessly say that most of the deficit is for defense are talking without the facts. In this present session of Congress the President's budget request for defenses have been increased by 700 million dollars. But spending for purposes of a strictly civilian nature will be likely to be several times that amount.

The public assistance program, school aid, housing, agriculture, federal pay and many other items will run into several billions.

One way to measure the fact that spending for nondefense purposes has brought us to the present enormous deficit is by comparing expenditures for civilian purposes in the present year with those in 1954. The rise has been 10 billion dollars.

Programs have been carelessly started by Congress which go on and on for years. And indeterminate authorizations are given to federal agencies to borrow from the Treasury without going back to Congress with fresh justifications for annual appropriations.

The President can put a heavy brake upon the printing presses in two ways. He can exercise a veto on some of the bills before him and that will come to him before Congress adjourns.

And he can always exercise a 365-day veto by refusing to spend some of the money already appropriated by a vote-hungry Congress.

It is sheer irresponsibility for Congress to go on spending to end a recession which natural causes are trying their best to terminate. (The Associated Newspapers)

SIDE GLANCES

Judges View Court

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Action May Be Legislative Instead of Judicial

The chief justices of the highest court in each of 10 states — seven of them in the North — have just issued the most penetrating criticism of the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States that has emanated from any source in recent years.

Coming at the very time when the Senate and the House were debating whether to pass laws to restrict the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and in some instances to reverse some of the points on which the court has erroneously interpreted the intent of Congress, the wording of the document is of more than passing interest.

The report of the committee on state-federal relationships was made public at Pasadena, where the annual meetings of the Conference of Chief Justices and of the American Bar Association are being held.

The chief justices of Massachusetts, New York State, Michigan, Wisconsin, Oregon, Minnesota and Maryland can hardly be charged with a "Southern bias." Indeed the report of the chief justices did not mention the "segregation" issue at all but dealt solely with the abuse of the rights of the states by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The document says in part: "We are now concerned specifically with the effect of judicial decisions upon the relations between the federal government and the state governments. Here we think that the over-all tendency of decisions of the Supreme Court over the last 25 years or more has been to press the extension of federal power and to press it rapidly."

"THERE HAVE been, of course, and still are very considerable differences within the court on these matters and there has been quite recently a growing recognition of the fact that our government is still a federal government and that the historic line which experience seems to justify between matters primarily of national concern and matters primarily of local concern should not be hastily or lightly obliterated.

"A number of justices have repeatedly demonstrated their awareness of problems of federalism and their recognition that federalism is still a living part of our system of government."

"We believe that, in the fields with which we are concerned and as to which we feel entitled to speak, the Supreme Court too often has tended to adopt the role of policy maker without proper judicial restraint. We feel this is particularly the case in both of the great fields we have discussed — namely, the extent and extension of the federal power, and the supervision of state action by the Supreme Court by virtue of the Fourteenth Amendment."

"In the light of the immense power of the Supreme Court and its practical nonreviewability in most instances, no more important obligation rests upon it, in our view, than that of careful moderation in the exercise of its policymaking role."

"We are not alone in our view that the court, in many cases arising under the Fourteenth Amendment, has assumed what seem to us primarily legislative powers. (See Judge Learned Hand on the Bill of Rights.)"

"We do not believe that either the framers of the original Constitution or the possibly somewhat less gifted draftsmen of the Fourteenth Amendment ever contemplated that the Supreme Court would, or should, have the almost unlimited policymaking powers which it now exercises."

"It is strange, indeed, to reflect that, under a constitution which provides for a system of checks and balances and of distribution of power between national and state governments, one branch of one government — the Supreme Court — would attain the immense and, in many respects, dominant power which it now wields. . . .

"IT HAS LONG been an American boast that we have a government of laws and not of men. We believe that any study of recent decisions of the Supreme Court will raise at least considerable doubt as to the validity of that boast."

"We find first that, in constitutional cases, unanimous decisions are comparative rarities and that multiple opinions, concurring or dissenting, are common occurrences."

"We find next that divisions on a 5-to-4 basis are quite frequent. We find further that, on some occasions, a majority of the court cannot be mustered in support of any one opinion and that the result of a given case may come from the divergent views of individual justices who happen to unite on one outcome or the other of the case before the court. . . ."

"It seems strange that, under a constitutional doctrine which requires all others to recognize the Supreme Court's rulings on constitutional questions as binding adjudications of the meaning and application of the Constitution, the court itself has so frequently overturned its own decisions thereon, after the lapse of periods varying from 1 year to 75, or even 95 years. . . ."

"The Constitution expressly sets up its own procedures for amendment, slow or cumbersome though they may be. If reasonable certainty and stability do not attach to a written Constitution, is it a constitution or is it a sham?"

"These frequent differences and occasional overrulings of prior decisions in constitutional cases cause us grave concern as to whether individual views as to what is wise or desirable do not unconsciously override a more dispassionate consideration of what is or is not constitutionally warranted. . . ."

"IT IS OUR earnest hope which we respectfully express, that that great court exercise to the full its power of judicial self-restraint by adhering firmly to its tremendous, strictly judicial powers and by exercising, so far as possible, the exercise of essentially legislative powers when it is called upon to decide questions involving the validity of state action, whether it deems such action wise or unwise."

The 10 chief justices declare, moreover, that at times the Supreme Court justices seem to "manifest an impatience with the slow workings of our federal system" and an unwillingness to wait for Congress "to make clear its intention to exercise the powers conferred upon it by the Constitution."

The report says also that the Supreme Court seems to be impatient with the "slow processes of amending the Constitution which that instrument provides" and that it should be adhering to "the limitations of judicial power," instead of "Merely giving effect to what it may deem desirable."

This is a scathing rebuke of the present Supreme Court, though the criticism does go back in some instances to previous personnel as well.

There can be no doubt that many men of the highest judicial experience in America have begun to question whether the attitude of the present court isn't really legislative instead of judicial.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

Chariots drawn by four matched stallions whizzed by me and when the thundering was over it was Ben Hur by a length. He came over to where we were standing by the cameras but I had the impression it was Charlton Heston. The chariot race was fixed, he said. We laughed and started out of the arena set, past 1,000 Italian extras who were cheering the race as it was shot again.

We made for the sound stage where director Willie Wyler had Ben Hur's mother, Martha Scott, in the grimmest of ancient Roman dungeons. Producer Sam Zimbalist, spending some four million dollars on the film in Italy alone, had chosen his artisans well and the prison scene sent me traumatically out of this make believe microcosm.

We were treading here in Italy's cinema city on the very ground which Benito Mussolini had hoped to build into a movie town greater than Hollywood. In fact he had sent his son Bruno to California to study American methods.

CAME THE WAR. The "cinema-citta," with its vast grounds and sound stages, became a compound and barracks for Fascist troops. Then the Nazis replaced them here.

When the swastika soldiers retreated, the new democratic Italian government used the areas as a vast camp for 15,000 Jewish refugees. And it was from the water-tower over yonder that some of them leaped to death even as full freedom awaited beyond the gates.

They had not yet been all placed in friendly lands when Sam Zimbalist began shooting "Quo Vadis" here. Some 4,000 of the refugees watched and cheered the picture sequences back in 1950.

The ugliness which blotched the face of humanity in the not so distant days of Il Duce and Der Fuehrer seems to have gone but there is ugliness still.

There was the moment when one of Willie Wyler's units arranged with the Libyan government for the shooting of desert scenes over in North Africa. Then the Nasser neo-Naziism pressured the Libyan government into refusing the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer producing unit the use of the desert.

THUS NASSER was saying he wanted no portrayal of Christian dom's early days touching his Arabian sands. And Nasser prevailed. So the MGM unit flew to Israel and the scene was played in the sands of the Negev.

As we walked again across the spurious desert of the huge movie lots we heard again the noise of the thousand Italian extras — and it was heartwarming to hear the voice of a free unrestricted artist.

They are enthusiastic, these extras. Uninhibited now as though they were constantly yelling against the days of the black shirted squadristi which they hated.

So enthusiastic over their work with the Americans are they that they sometimes simply rewrite the script by themselves.

The other day, director Wyler's assistant, speaking through amplified walkie-talkies, told the extras to start their cheering after Ben Hur wins the race and goes to Pontius Pilate for his laurel wreaths. But the extras just couldn't stand still.

THEY BROKE RANKS. They carried Ben Hur on their shoulders. Six of the extras got into the white chariot with him and rode off — although the script called for Charlton Heston to make it majestically by himself. Wyler let the bit stay as the extras did it. You'll see it.

And well may the extras cheer. About a third of the film cost of million dollars is being poured into the Italian economy. This means jobs for a total of 6,000 extras, including whole villages near Rome.

There are jobs for the Italian shoemakers who have gotten up 3,400 pairs of shoes for the cast, and more coming. Seamstresses and dye workers have made good money turning out 3,000 red mantles for Roman soldiers. Craftsman have been turning out have equipped the cast with 2,000 shields and 3,000 spears and over 5,500 pieces of "jewelry."

Famed Italian leather workers have equipped the cast with 2,000 leather belts and Italy now has some new horseshoers. There weren't any around. The horses came from Yugoslavia.

There are scores of secretaries, chauffeurs and — since an army rolls on its stomach — waiters and cooks.

They're making more than a good movie on this lot, Sam Zimbalist and his directors, actors and American cowboys and animal trainers are making a lot of good friends for the U.S.

And judging from what I've seen, we sure need them.

THE KEY—William Holden and Sophia Loren are a romantic team in "The Key" which will be shown at the State Theater here tonight and Tuesday. The drama is about unarmed rescue ships in wartime.

Listing of New Books at Salem Public Library

Auntie Mame is back! The Salem Public Library has added another volume of the crazy antics of E. E. Tanager's famous character. The events in "Around the World With Auntie Mame" took place before the New York adventures, but nephew Patrick had no regard for order, even in his stories.

"The Defense of the Middle East" by John Campbell heads the list of non-fiction. In a very timely book the former State Department official reviews the entire Middle East problem; the conflict between Arabs and Israelis, Nasser and Arab nationalism, and communist infiltration and pressure.

"Queen Midas" by J. F. Dinneen. Pagan Doyle came to America a penniless Irish immigrant, but by the time she was thirty she was worth millions and was influential in both the stock market and the world of politics. "Servant's Problem" by F. P. Johns. The servant uncovered the mystery of the unseen Mr. Atterbury and his three nieces who were involved in a murder.

"Ask Any Girl" by Winifred Woolfe. The farcical adventures of Meg Wheeler who didn't go to New York just to catch a husband, but whose well planned campaign snared the wrong man. As Meg said, "No girl should be lonesome!"

"Black Mail" by D. M. Disney. Who tried to run over Lucia with a car? Was it the same person who wrote the anonymous letters? And why?

"Depart This Life" by M. D. Brown. Although Katherine was engaged to Colin, his parents and her father were enemies. It was not until after her father was murdered that Katherine learned the reason for the feud.

NON-FICTION "Ordeal of the Captive Nations" by Hawthorne Daniel. The famous foreign correspondent writes of the plight of ten puppet nations behind the Iron Curtain. He explains what has happened so far and what the prospects are for these small countries.

"Short Introduction to Archaeology" by V. G. Childe. Elementary material for the novice archaeologist explaining how specimens are classified, the chronology of periods, and the evaluation of findings.

"The Cerebral-Palsied Child" by W. M. Phelps and others. Advice for parents on home care of afflicted children, the treatment of emotional and social problems, and occupational and speech therapy.

"Buckskin and Spurs" by Glenn Shirley. Twelve sketches of colorful Western characters who lived hard and died suddenly. This frontier gallery presents some of the less well known names of western history.

"How to Get the Most Out of Your Social Security" by Harvey Gardner. A C.P.A. and tax specialist explains the social security program with emphasis upon the maximum benefits available to the taxpayer.

"Death of a Nation" by Clifford Dowdy. The novelist and historian has done an excellent job of reporting the Battle of Gettysburg. Here is true journalistic style are the triumphs, mistakes, and superb courage of the three days of fighting.

"Amaryllis Manual" by H. P. M.

Traub, Concise information describing the many kinds of amaryllis and telling how to grow them. A feature of the book is the section on using amaryllis in cut flower arrangements.

"Baa Baa Black Sheep" by Gregory Boyington. "Pappy" Boyington enraged the Marine Corps when he resigned to become a Flying Tiger. When he re-entered the Marines he was assigned to lead a group of troublemakers who became famous as the Black Sheep squadron of the South Pacific.

Martha Lewton, Elmer Rufer Speak Vows In Church Rites

Only the immediate families witnessed the wedding of Miss Martha Elizabeth Lewton of RD 2, Salem, and Elmer Herman Rufer of 622 Franklin Ave. Saturday afternoon in the Hanoverton Presbyterian Church.

The couple exchanged their vows before the Rev. Ashley S. Wilson, who performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Howard Lewton. The bridegroom is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Rudolf Rufer.

Mrs. Camille Kelton of Hanoverton was organist and accompanied David Freshley of East Rochester who sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Lewton was attired in a street-length dress of cocoa lace over taffeta, styled with a wide draped satin belt, accented with a rhinestone buckle, and matching stole and accessories. Her feather half-hat and gloves were in the fuchsia hue. She carried a 150-year-old handkerchief.

A corsage of Norweda rose-gladioli and a heart-shaped rhinestone necklace completed her ensemble.

Attending the bride was her sister, Mrs. H. N. Brown of Lisbon Road. With her beige satin street-length dress, Mrs. Brown chose beige and salmon colored accessories. A corsage of salmon-colored gladioli complemented her attire.

H. N. Brown of Lisbon Road was Mr. Rufer's best man.

The couple were greeted at a reception at the Fred Rufer home on the Goshen Road. Bouquets of multi-colored gladioli graced the fireplace.

Wedding bells and a miniature bride and bridegroom topped the three-tiered wedding cake which was encircled with cut flowers.

Mrs. Fred Rufer, Mrs. John Rufer, Mrs. Ernest Rufer, Miss Beatrice Rufer of Salem, Mrs. Nellie Hall of Warren, Mrs. Walter Brown of Youngstown and Mrs. William Brown of Salineville served the 75 guests.

Mrs. Rufer graduated from Lisbon High School and attended East Liverpool Business College. She is employed as a secretary by the Dill Manufacturing Co. of Cleveland.

A graduate of Beechwood School, Mr. Rufer is employed as a carpenter by Fred Rufer, contractor.

For her wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., the bride chose a poudre blue satin dress with pink and navy accessories. Her jewelry was her mother's necklace of tiny pearls and an amethyst drop. The couple will reside on the Sebring-Pine Lake Road.

Smerck-Barnes Vows Heard In Youngstown

St. Dominic's Catholic Church in Youngstown was the scene of the Aug. 16 wedding of Miss Martha E. Smerck and David R. Barnes. The Rev. Fr. Salania officiated at the double ring ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Klement Smerck of Youngstown and the son of Mrs. Mildred Barnes of Ellsworth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of illusion and Chantilly lace over satin, accented with sequins and lace appliques. The gown was fashioned with a scalloped V-neckline and long sleeves. The bouffant skirt was designed with a scalloped hemline of lace with an overskirt of nylon tulle which ended in a brush train.

Her veil of French illusion was held by a crown studded with pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of stephanotis on white tulle, centered with a white orchid.

The bride's sister, Miss Margaret Smerck of Youngstown was maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Forest Roeder of Warren sister of the bridegroom and Miss Magdalene Smerck of Youngstown, sister of the bride.

Thomas Smith of Canfield was best man. Ushers were Joseph Koziel of Youngstown and Forest Roeder of Warren. Three hundred guests from Pittsburgh, New Castle, Warren, Greenford, Ellsworth, Salem, Canfield, Hubbard, Struthers, and Youngstown attended the reception held at Homewood Hall in Youngstown. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Kenneth Cooper of Salem, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lee Barnes of Salem, sister-in-law of the bridegroom.

A graduate of Wilson High School in Youngstown, the bride is employed by the G. M. McKelvey Co. The bridegroom graduated from Canfield High School and is employed as an operating engineer.

For traveling to Atlantic City, Mrs. Barnes chose a blue suit with brown and white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. They will reside with the bride's parents.

Washingtonville

Mrs. Howard Feicht entertained the Jolly Twelve club in her home near Greenford recently. Mrs. William Grim Mrs. Donald Spear, Mrs. Alice Vigne and Mrs. Clyde Feicht shared honors in euchre. Mrs. Grim will entertain the club in four weeks.

Seven tables of cards were in play at the benefit card party sponsored by the Pythian Sisters. Mrs. Russell Smith of Leetonia, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dugan of Salem won high score in 500. Herbert Seachrest of New Waterford and Samuel Kerr of Boardman won special prizes. The temple will hold another card party in two weeks.

Mrs. Carl Tullis and Mrs. Charles Grindle spent Thursday visiting in the home of Mrs. Grindle's daughter, Mrs. Shirley McGaffick and daughters of Canton.

Mrs. Edwin Altomare of Toledo were recent guests in the home of Mrs. Altomare's mother Mrs. Emma Tunnat.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grindle were Saturday guests in the home of his aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. James Grindle of Minerva.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Baker of Elmhurst, Long Island, have returned home after spending the past week in the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Sanders.

Mrs. Margaret Spear spent the weekend in the home of her sister, Mrs. Minnie Denner and her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Spear of Youngstown.

Personal Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Norman A. Pedersen, Jr., and family of Buffalo, N.Y., arrived Saturday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. A. Pedersen of Highland Ave.

Another son, Douglas Pedersen of Princeton, N.J., will complete next month his doctor of philosophy degree at Princeton University where he was awarded the Woodrow Wilson fellowship award while studying at Allegheny College. He was graduated in June cum laude.

Visiting Here After European Tour

Former Salem Man, Philadelphia Orchestra Member, Acts Role of 'Envoy With Trumpet'

BY DONNA AGAN

From the moment an American steps into another country he becomes an ambassador of the United States.

Many Salem people found that out this summer. They went to Europe to relax and to have fun but suddenly found themselves with a public relations job on their hands, and with no briefcase full of State Department orders to guide them.

Former Salemite Sam Krauss, Jr. is here visiting with friends and family after an eight-week culture tour. Like his friend, Louis Armstrong, Mr. Krauss carried his trumpet case over 15,000 miles of foreign soil as a cultural exchange "ambassador" under the sponsorship of ANTA.

This privately-financed organization sent the Philadelphia Orchestra with which Mr. Krauss has played first-chair trumpet for 15 years, on this latest musical mission to Moscow.

THE ORCHESTRA ALSO played concerts in nearly every European capital in the Scandinavian countries, Holland, and at the Brussels Fair, where pianist Van Cliburn joined them for a special concert.

After playing in a Roman outdoor theater, ruins of an ancient palace, Mr. Krauss along with other members of the orchestra had an audience with the Pope.

In Moscow, Mr. Krauss was asked by representatives of the Voice of Moscow to tape a special broadcast to the "outside world." He was rather dubious about this invitation, but went on with it using extreme caution.

(Which was probably a little difficult for this tall genial gentleman who speaks with a rapid, staccato beat, and with great enthusiasm for life and music, while waving his cigar around with all the grace and flourish of a baton.)

BUT MR. KRAUSS said that the orchestra members (it took three of the largest KLM planes to transport the 120 members and staff, plus the nine tons of luggage were not especially warned by ANTA officials to "keep quiet."

However, in Moscow, a considerable interpreter, said that undoubtedly their hotel rooms would be wired, so that orchestra members tried their best to act like polite guests, and not register, too loudly, typical American tourist complaints about food, bath room facilities, etc.

Mail delivery was particularly irksome behind the Iron Curtain. Mr. Krauss said that many Russians would rather send a letter by personal messenger or to a stranger than trust Soviet mailing service.

Mr. Krauss indicated that the Russian people present an intense serious but very cordial facade to Americans. Extremely curious about Americans, they asked such questions as — Is it true that Americans will invade Russia?

MR. KRAUSS, who got by nicely with his knowledge of German, countered that Americans were also curious as to Russia's apparent, war-like intentions. But the Russian diplomats seemed to have no such fears. They eagerly asked for chewing gum, and Mr. Krauss wished he had taken a long carload. He was amazed to discover that a Russian child by the age of 12 can speak and write five different languages.

The first Iron Curtain concert was staged in Kiev. One night Mr. Krauss was about to enter the hotel when he was stopped by a Russian who began asking eager questions about America. Within a matter of minutes Mr. Krauss found himself surrounded by literally hundreds of Russians, drinking in every word he said yet incredulously asking if all he said were true. Mr. Krauss could U.S. BASE OUT? — Newspaper locates the U.S. air base at Dhahran which Saudi Arabia reportedly has agreed to close in return for being allowed to join the United Arab Republic. The report, circulated in Cairo, claimed the Saudis decided to close the base in February, 1962, when a five-year lease expires.

only reply, "Come to the United States, and see for yourselves."

The Russians were proud to show off their progress. After a midnight snack in Leningrad, they were hurried to Moscow in a deluxe sleeper train, arriving for breakfast; then onto three super-jets and whisked to Copenhagen, where the orchestra had lunch.

THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE, according to Mr. Krauss, seem as content with their team-work system, as we do with our capitalistic and individualistic system. Which is natural, said Mr. Krauss, because in spite of many evils, the Russian people have risen considerably from the poverty and degradation which once beset so many millions of them.

Salem people will recall that Sam Krauss Jr., was the founder of the first Salem High School Band back in 1929.

His mother is Mrs. Katherine Krauss of 653 Euclid St. Many people in Salem took piano lessons from his sister, the late Martha Krauss. His father, who was his first trumpet teacher, played baritone and trumpet with the original Quaker City Band.

After eight years with the St. Louis Symphony, and one year with the National Symphony of Washington, D. C., Mr. Krauss joined the Philadelphia Orchestra under the direction of Eugene Ormandy. He has also played under such other great conductors as Leopold Stokowski, Dimitri Metropoulos, Charles Munch, Charles Monteaux, and Cleveland's George Szell.

Whenever you hear a Columbia recording of the Philadelphia Orchestra, the trumpet solo work is handled by Mr. Krauss. His favorites seem to be "Scheherazade," Wagner's works, and Debussy's "La Mer."

Mr. Krauss, who also teaches at his alma mater, the Curtis Institute of Music, lives in Philadelphia with his wife and two children, Sam Jr., 18, who will attend Penn State this fall, and Sally, 16.

'Mudcat' Grant Hurls Indians to 9-1 Win Over Senators

Doby, Minoso Pace Attack

Cleveland Bombards Pedro Ramos in 4th

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jim (Mudcat) Grant, Cleveland's rookie right-hander, loves those Washington Senators. Of his 10 victories, half have come against Washington, including a 9-1 triumph here Sunday. He also has lost 10.

Larry Doby paced Cleveland's 12-hit attack with a homer, double and single for three runs batted in. Minnie Minoso also collected three hits.

Grant limited the Senators to eight hits and lost his shutout bid in the sixth on Herb Plews' double, a single by Albie Pearson and an infield out. He held a 9-0 lead after four innings, at which time the Indians stopped hitting. They were held hitless the rest of the way by former Tribesman Jim Constance and John Romonosky.

Pedro Ramos and Tex Clevenger were the victims of Cleveland's early hitting burst. Ramos took his 13th defeat in 24 decisions.

The Indians scored two in the first inning, another pair in the third, and five in the fourth frame.

Singles by Bobby Avila and Minoso plus a double by Doby counted two in the initial inning. Doby hit his eighth homer in the third, a 400-foot shot into the center field bleachers, scoring Vic Power who had singled.

In the fourth, Randy Jackson singled, Billy Moran doubled and Grant sent them both home with a two-run pop double to right field. Avila sacrificed and Grant scored on a sacrifice fly by Power.

Doby beat out an infield hit and came across on a double by Rocky Colavito. Rocky went to third on the throw to the plate and scored the Tribe's final run on a single by Minoso.

Gary Bell (7-8) goes against Washington's Vito Valentini (3-2), a former Indian, in today's finale.

Herrons Eliminated From State Tourney

Herron Transfer was eliminated from the state softball tournament in Toledo Saturday afternoon when they were soundly trounced by the East Side YMCA club of Toledo 16-0. The local team got to one hit off Jim Miller, East Side's winning pitcher, that by Leo Klein.

Glenn Mercer suffered the setback for Salem. The team had dropped their first game Friday 6-1 to North Lewisburg in the double elimination tourney.

Tigers' Lary Beats Yankees For Sixth Time in '58 Season

By The Associated Press
Frank Lary laughs at the moans who are constantly howling "Break up the Yankees."

Lary's only complaint is that he doesn't see enough of Casey Stengel's American League champions.

The stocky Detroit right-hander faced the Yankees Sunday for the seventh time this season and for the sixth time he beat them. The score was 8-3, enabling the Tigers to gain a split in their double-header as the Yankees won the nightcap 3-2.

Not since 1944 has a pitcher whipped the Yankees six times in one campaign. It was done by a pair of Detroit hurlers, Hal Newhouse and Dizzy Trout.

The split enabled the runaway Yankees to widen their lead to 2 games over Chicago, which was beaten 5-2 by Baltimore. Boston's third-place Red Sox swept a double-header from Kansas City 14-3 and 3-2 in 11 innings. Cleveland swamped Washington 9-1.

Detroit outthrew the Yankees 12 to 6 in the opener. Charlie Maxwell led the Tiger attack with a pair of singles and a three-run homer. Art Ditmar was the loser.

Norm Siebern's ninth inning home run snapped a 2-2 tie for New York in the second game. Herb Moford, who had held the Yankees hitless after the first inning, was the victim. Winner Bobby Shantz went the distance for the first time since April 27.

Jackie Jensen's run-producing single in the 11th broke up a tight pitching duel between Boston's Murray Wall and Kansas City's Ray Herbert in the second game of their twin bill. The Red Sox bombed four Athletics pitchers for 16 hits in the opener, with Don Buddin and Pete Daley driving in three runs each on as many hits.

Wall, coming to the relief of starter Ted Bowsfield in the fourth inning of the nightcap, allowed only one hit in 7 2-3 innings.

Billy Gardner drove in three runs with a pair of doubles in Baltimore's triumph over Chicago. Two other Billies—pitchers O'Dell and Loes—held the White Sox to three hits with O'Dell posting his 12th victory.

Pirates Split Pair With St. Louis

By The Associated Press
Pittsburgh's youth-minded Pirates, en route to their first finish in the first division in 10 years, are almost certain to have a 20-game pitcher this season. He is Bob Friend, the oldest Pirate in point of service.

The 27-year-old right-hander has 17 victories, more than any other National League hurler. He was credited with the Pirates' 8-4 first-game triumph over St. Louis Sunday although he gave way to Elroy Face after seven innings. St. Louis won the second game 12-8. The Pirates are one percentage point behind the second-place Giants.

A workhorse, Friend already has pitched 215 innings, second only to Milwaukee's Warren Spahn. Although he has lost 13 games, most in the league, he already has equaled his top winning mark (17-17 in 1956). In seven previous years, he has had only one winning season — 14-9 in 1955.

In other games, Milwaukee increased its first-place margin over San Francisco to seven games, defeating the Giants 8-5 in 10 innings. Cincinnati nipped Los Angeles 6-5 and Philadelphia swept a doubleheader from Chicago 13-8 and 5-3. The second game was called after eight innings because of darkness.

Bill Mazeroski and Hank Foiles drove in two runs each for Pittsburgh in the opener. In the nightcap, Stan Musial's pinch single in the eighth ignited a five-run inning and enabled the Cards to overcome an 8-7 deficit. Joe Cunningham and Irv Noren drove in runs with singles. Gene Green doubled in another and Frank Thomas' wild throw added two more for St. Louis. Ken Boyer hit a three-run homer earlier for the winners.

Hank Aaron smashed a two-run homer in the 10th as Milwaukee snapped a 5-5 tie. The Braves added another run off Red Worthington on Joe Adcock's double and singles by Andy Pafko and Johnny Logan. Leon Wagner hit his third homer in four days for the Giants.

Frank Robinson's two-out home run in the ninth, after Johnny Temple had led off with a double, gave Cincinnati a come-from-behind 6-5 victory over Los Angeles. Don Zimmer hit a three-run homer for the Dodgers.

Ed Bouchee slammed a home run in each game in Philadelphia's double triumph over the Cubs. His first came with the bases loaded to high-light a seven-run outburst in the seventh inning.

Pinch hitter Rip Repulski also homered in the opener with two on. Wally Post and Willie Jones batted in two runs apiece as the Phillies came from behind in the second game with four tallies in the eighth to give relief pitcher Jack Sanford his eighth triumph.

First baseman Jim Marshall, purchased from Baltimore Saturday, kept the Cubs alive in both games. He hit two homers and a single in the first game and came through with a home run and single in the second.

Detroit, stopped Charlie Cotton, 155½.

Major League Stars

Batting — Hank Aaron, Braves, two-run homer in the 10th inning snapped a 5-5 tie with San Francisco and led to Milwaukee's 8-5 triumph. Aaron singled in the tying run in the fifth.

Pitching — Frank Lary, Tigers, allowed New York six hits in Detroit's 8-3 first game victory for his sixth triumph over the Yankees this season. The Yankees came back to win the second game 3-2.

LOOKING AHEAD—Ashley Cooper, the big Australian star who made a big hit at Wimbledon, now is in the United States aiming his big game for the Nationals at Forest Hills' West Side Club, starting Aug. 30.

Stepanics, Dairy Queen Play Tonight For City's AA Crown

The Class AA city league softball championship will be determined tonight when Stepanic's Tavern battles Dairy Queen at 9 p.m., at Kelly Field.

The two clubs ended regular league play in a tie and will battle tonight for the Class AA crown.

Dave Briskin, local softball association executive-secretary, has outlined the following "AA" play off schedule.

Tuesday at 8 p.m., Old Dutch will play the winner of the Stepanic-Dairy Queen game. On Tuesday at 9 p.m., Bayard Grange will play the loser of the Stepanic-Dairy Queen game.

Then on Wednesday at 9 p.m. the two winners will play for the championship.

The league winner shall be declared the city champ and not the playoff victor, Briskin said.

The Class A playoffs will not begin until Sunday at 7 p.m. The schedule will appear later this week. Tonight's league schedule is:

6, Deming vs Drive-In
7, Deming vs Old Dutch Beer
8, Drive-In vs Christians
CENTENNIAL
6:45, Salona vs Columbiana

Morgans, Imperials Meet For Cage Crown

Chick Morgans will play the Imperials for the Centennial Park summer basketball league championship Tuesday at 7 p.m.

These two teams and the Merf in a three-way tie. The Imperials in a three-way tie. The Imperials then drew a bye. Morgans defeated the Merfats 52-36 Thursday in the first playoff game to advance into the title game with the Imperials.

Braves Look Like Champs Against Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Milwaukee Braves are safely out of Los Angeles, and to the dismay of San Francisco Giant fans, are playing like champions again.

The world champs looked like anything but when they dropped four while winning only one from the Dodgers in the Coliseum.

But they flew here Sunday for a five-game set and pushed their National League lead to seven games over San Francisco and Pittsburgh with a 10-inning 8-5 victory.

Hank Aaron's 28th homer with Ed Mathews on base was the key blow in the 10th. Del Crandall hit a three-run homer, his 17th, in the second.

"We got the first one and that's the big one," said Braves Manager Fred Haney. But he wasn't predicting the outcome of the crucial series.

The Braves didn't get the first one in the Coliseum. In fact, they've lost eight of 11 there. Over-all the Dodgers lead the Braves 13-7.

The Seals Stadium decision was the fourth here against three defeats. The last time the Giants played in Milwaukee they lost four straight.

Crandall cracked his home run off starter John Antonelli, and Aaron hit his off Al Worthington, the loser and second of three Giant pitchers.

Rookie Leon Wagner got his 10th of the season and third in four days in the first off Braves starter Carl Willey, who gave up five runs in 2 1-3 innings. Bob Rush relieved Willey and gave only two hits in the next 5 2-3 innings. Don McMahon finished up and was credited with the victory, his seventh.

LORAIN TOPS YOUNGSTOWN CLEVELAND (AP) — Lorain beat back a determined Youngstown team early today, 5-2, and won the regional National Amateur Baseball Federation title. The victory sends the winners to the national tourney at Flint, Mich., starting Friday. Youngstown had defeated Cleveland 12-2 and then beat Lorain 3-2 in 10 innings in the double elimination.

COLUMBIANA

Annual Rotarian-Kiwanian Softball Game Set Tonight

COLUMBIANA — Rotarians and Kiwanians will tangle in their annual softball match this evening at Firestone Park. The contest will follow the meal to be served at 6:30 in Pavilion 2.

Dick Lodge president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, has announced the organization will stage a membership social dance on Friday. An orchestra will play for dancing from 9 to 1 at Arrowhead Lake.

Reports on the Columbus convention were presented by Mrs. Florence Hum, Mrs. June Patchen and Mrs. Gertrude McLaughlin when the Auxiliary to American Legion Post 290 met last week. Auxiliary members will assist in the Legion's refreshment stand during the street fair Sept. 4-6.

THREE advanced piano students will be presented in a program at 4 p.m. Sunday in the high school auditorium. Studying under Mrs. E. Gordon Warner, the students are Kathleen Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Snyder and a graduate of Fairfield high; Patricia Frankett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Frankett and a Columbiana high grad; and Rosalie Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gordon Warner. Miss Warner also will give a French horn solo. The public is invited.

The annual "Florida picnic" of residents who often vacation or winter in the southern state, will be held Wednesday in Pavilion 4 at Firestone Park starting at 5:30 p.m. Guests are asked to take table service and a covered dish. Rolls, butter and coffee will be furnished.

Women interested in participating in the Monday Night Bowling League are asked to meet at 7 tonight at Kyser's Lanes when plans for the season will be set up.

Democrats

Kenneth Bell of Wellsville, Democratic nominee for county auditor, criticized the auditor's office on a lack of financial statements and for the high cost of reappraisal of real estate.

He charged that, by law, the auditor should publish a county financial statement every year, and he declared "it's been years since we have seen such a statement published in the newspapers of Columbiana County."

Bell also charged that the county auditor is "spending too much money ($180,000) on the reappraisal of the county real estate." The candidate said he had checked with other counties and discovered that the auditor could save thousands of dollars if he would handle his own reappraisals and not hire an outside firm to do the job.

The meeting at East Palestine substituted for a scheduled county-wide Democratic picnic at Valley Park on Route 7. The proposed outing was called off because of the afternoon downpour, but has been rescheduled for this coming Sunday afternoon at the VFW camp on Route 30, north of East Liverpool.

Among other county candidates at yesterday's meeting were John F. Kelly, nominee for state representative; Carl L. Stacey, candidate for clerk of courts, and Atty. Robert S. Hartford, who seeks the Common Pleas court bench.

lars less than Eisenhower asked originally for economic and military aid to friendly nations in this fiscal year ending next June 30.

As generally happens, the last day of the session was a busy and a long one. The House adjourned at 2 a.m. The Senate followed at 4:11 a.m., ending an 18-hour session.

Final Oratorical Bursts

Interspersed with legislation, there were final bursts of oratory and exchanges of pleasantries between the usually contending Republicans and Democrats.

In the House, Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts offered a resolution praising Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) for the way he presided over the House. Rayburn returned the compliment.

A committee that notified President Eisenhower Congress had finished its business brought back the President's "best wishes to Mr. Sam," as Rayburn is called.

other 22 shells in as many minutes during the afternoon.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the defenders' guns replied vigorously but did not disclose the volume of counter-fire.

The U.S. Defense Department ordered the 7th Fleet and other American naval forces in the Far East to take normal precautionary defense measures "in light of the increased activity in the Taiwan (Formosa) Straits."

The U.S. Navy also announced that combined U. S. Nationalist Chinese naval exercises would be held early next month to promote "close working relations" between the two forces.

Pledged by Treaty

The United States is pledged by treaty to defend Formosa and the neighboring Pescadore Islands. As regards Quemoy and the other offshore islands, the Eisenhower administration has followed a policy designed to keep the Reds in doubt whether the 7th Fleet would also go into action if the Communists tried to take them.

Defense spokesmen said Nationalist warships beat back two Communist moves toward Tungting. First navy units clashed with four Red gunboats and six landing craft. An hour later the Nationalist encountered five Red gunboats and 30 armed motorized junks.

The Defense Ministry reported that several Communist torpedo boats attacked two Nationalist LST's carrying wounded soldiers from Quemoy. One LST was sunk but all aboard were taken off. The other LST was damaged and ministry said it was towed to safety.

Sank Torpedo Boats

The Nationalists said they sank two torpedo boats in a 15-minute clash near Tungting. Three survivors were captured.

The Red air force, which now boasts Soviet MIG17 fighters, made its first assault on the island bastions at the height of the bombardment. They followed this up with an eight-plane strafing raid on the islands.

The Nationalists said 41,000 shells hit the islands in Saturday's opening barrage, killing or wounding 200 Nationalist military personnel. Eleven civilians were killed and 17 wounded. The Defense Ministry said Red batteries lobbed in 36,500 shells yesterday.

The previous record bombardment was 9,395 rounds that hit Quemoy June 24, 1957.

Child Hurt In 1 Of 6 Traffic Accidents

One person was injured and one was arrested in six traffic mishaps investigated by police over the weekend.

Joan Martin, 12, daughter of Mrs. Clarence Martin of 166 S. Howard Ave. was treated at City Hospital for a cut lip, bloody nose and a chipped tooth after she ran into the path of a car on W. State St., near N. Ellsworth Ave., Sunday at 3:17 p.m.

Police said the car driven by Clarence Davis, 65, of Wadsworth was traveling west on State St. at about 15 miles per hour when the child was struck.

Nick Yakubak, 32, of 815 Prospect St. was fined $10 for failing to yield the right of way after his car collided with an auto operated by Patricia Ann Ehrhart, 18, of 328½ E. 4th St. at the intersection of S. Broadway and Aetna St. Saturday at 2:56 p.m.

Cars driven by Ken A. Brannon, 49, of Berberston and Norman L. Hill, 18, of Beloit, collided at the intersection of E. State St. and Rose Ave. Sunday at 3:35 p.m.

Cars driven by Peggy Ann Riley, 17, of Springfield and Russell E. Webber, 22, of RD 4, Salem, were involved in an accident Sunday at 10:13 a.m. on W. State St. near the Georgetown Road.

Police said an unidentified driver caused the mishap when he turned in front of Miss Riley's car.

George McConner, 55, of 531 S. Madison St. told police an unknown car damaged his vehicle while it was parked in a lot on S. Broadway around 6:30 this morning.

Dorothy Goetz, 24, of RD 5, reported that a hit-skip driver damaged her car while it was parked at the rear of the bus station on Sugartree Alley Sunday around 3:15 p.m. justice's authority to stay an affirmative order of a lower court. But until Whittaker set forth his opinion there had been a question among Supreme Court observers as to whether one member of the court could cancel out a lower court's order delaying application of the lower court's own ruling.

The wording of Warren's announcement made it clear the matter had been taken up with the other justices and that the conclusion was that it was a proper matter for the full bench.

BEAUTICIAN IS FINED
LISBON—Mary D'Angelo Pezzano, 44, of 845 N. Market St., cited last week by state inspector Ruth Conrad for operating a beauty parlor without a state license, pleaded guilty Saturday and was fined $10 and costs by County Court Judge Samuel Crawford.

LEETONIA

He interpreted Dulles' statement as a warning to the Chinese Reds that "you're playing with fire if you start things over there."

Dulles' statement was in a letter to Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa) of the Foreign Affairs Committee. Morgan, who made the letter public Saturday, had written Dulles asking comment on the reported building of Red Chinese military strength opposite Quemoy and Matsu.

Three Persons Hurt In Home Accidents

Three area residents are being treated at the local hospitals for falls sustained Sunday at their homes.

Eighty-year-old Fred Hippley of RD 4, Salem received possible fractured ribs and a back injury when he fell 12 feet in his barn. He is reported in fairly good condition at the Central Clinic.

In good condition at City Hospital are Miss Jean Richardson, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Richardson of RD 2, Columbiana, and Albert Schmidt, 68, of RD 1, New Waterford.
